

I listen to K-LOVE radio on FM channels 107.1, 100.9, and 92.9 all of which can be heard throughout the Willamette Valley in Oregon. This network is a wonderful and rare case of programming that is not tarnished by secularism. The music and work of the K-LOVE network is in the public's interest; evidence can be found in the thousands of calls for prayer and assistance each year as well as hundreds of testimonials to the changes brought about from listening. If our signals are taken over by an LPFM broadcaster, local communities throughout the Willamette Valley will lose a source of hope, inspiration, and comfort all too desperately needed in these post-9/11 times. Please don't take my favorite music away.

Take these comments seriously in your decision of expanding the LPFM services.
